

Center for Glocal Studies (Seijo University)
International Symposium

ORIENTALISM AT THE TURN INTO THE TWENTIETH CENTURY: Cultural Representations and Glocal Studies

Saturday, November 9, 2013
13:00-17:00
Bldg.7, Room 716,
Seijo University

This symposium reconsiders how orientalism and glocal studies intersect in theory and in practice. By reassessing the discourse of orientalism, as well as its cultural manifestations from the turn into the twentieth century, the speakers explore new ways to understand and explicate the complex and fertile relationship between the global and the local.

<Symposium speakers>

Dominique Chateau

(l'Université Paris 1 Panthéon- Sorbonne)

Orientalism: The Orient as Ideological and Artistic Challenge

Josephine Lee

(University of Minnesota--Twin Cities)

American Decorative Orientalism from the 19th into the 20th Century

Asako Nakai

(Hitotsubashi University)

The "Unveiled" Woman of New Turkey: Reading Selma Ekrem's Photobiography

<Moderator>

Yuko Matsukawa

(Seijo University)

<Coordinator>

Kenji Kitayama

(Seijo University)

For Further Information :

Kenji KITAYAMA

kitayama@seijo.ac.jp

03-3482-9523

CENTER FOR GLOCAL STUDIES
SEIJO UNIVERSITY

Center for Glocal Studies, Seijo University

E-mail: glocalstudies@seijo.ac.jp

Tel/Fax 03-3482-1497